Inspiration happens here!

Perfectly located in the heart of Missouri's Interstate 44 corridor, Pulaski County is the center of your Ozark adventure. Bursting with small-town Americana, Pulaski's cities of Crocker, Dixon, Fort Leonard Wood, Richland, Saint Robert, & Waynesville each have their own captivating history, culture and hidden treasures- and each community revels in the natural, vibrant beauty of its surroundings. Outdoor enthusiasts know that within minutes you could be fishing, hunting, canoeing, kayaking, golfing, or exploring a prehistoric cave.

Waynesville, the county seat, and Pulaski's oldest community has a vibrant, historic downtown that is infused with arts, entertainment, great food, culture, and Midwestern hospitality with small-town charm. Situated on legendary Route 66, the city boasts two museums and ties to the days of stagecoaches- and a dash of Civil War history.

Some people say that Pulaski County is always celebrating something. Actually, they're right! Families love Old Settlers Day, Railroad Days, our County Fairs, rodeos, Frogtober Fest and Cow Days.

Scenic backdrops abound in Pulaski County! Some of our favorites are Portuguese Point, Bussmann's Lodge, Pippin Place, Devil's Tea Table, and Devils Elbow.

Colorful characters, legendary tales!

Pulaski County has a history of colorful characters and legendary tales. Fur trappers, tie rafters, bushwhackers, soldiers, unsung heroes, and salt of the earth folks are all part of the patchwork that has created the fabric of our communities. Our stories can be motivational, celebratory, patriotic, industrious, hilarious, and sometimes tragic. Pulaski County is the perfect Ozark Mountain backdrop to allow your characters to develop and come to life. You will discover entertaining, and engaging, content that your audience is seeking out!
